Dec. 10, '75–tf.

Court opened on Monday morning. Notwithstanding the very upleasant weather the Court House thus far has been well filled.

We refrain from comments on the President's message until next week, when it will be presented to our readers.

Col. Tate, of the Sun, beamed upon us on Wednesday last. He looks as hale and hearty as a man of seventy. His many friends were glad to see him.

Messrs. R. M. Tubbs and H. H. Rutter, two enterprising young men of this town have purchased and assumed control of the Mountain Sun at Shickshinny. We wish them abundant success in their enterprise.

OUR ADVERTISERS.—If you want to know where to buy the best goods at the lowest rates, if you want to know the leading professional and business men of the town and county, look over our advertising columns.

Another of the "typos" of Bloomsburg has launched out on the sea of matrimony from which few return. This time it is Mr. Charles Hassert. The bride is the daughter of John Hartman, of Buckhorn. Charles is a graduate of this office. Our best wishes accompany them.

On Saturday last quite an excitement was created among the truck wagons at the curb-stone market on Main street, by a run-away horse, attached to a lumber wagon. The horse started on the hill, and ran nearly the whole length of Main street. No damage was done. We have not learned whose horse it was.

ADJOURNED SALE.—We are requested to notify the public that the property of J. J. Robbins, located partly in Pine and partly in Greenwood townships will again be offered for sale on Tuesday, December 21st, 1875 at one o'clock in the afternoon. It consists of a grist-mill, sawmill, farm and timber land.

On Friday last, as Frank Attstatt, a citizen of Catawissa, was attempting to connect the breech with the barrel of a small revolver, unthinkingly placed his hand over the barrel and it was accidently discharged. The ball passed through the index finger and palm of the hand. Dr. Willits was immediately summoned and dressed the wound.

Our jovial friend, Freeman, of the Comet, we are told has come to grief. A jury thought he had libelled somebody, and the judge thought he ought to pay $50—and go seven months to jail. Well, Freeman, times are hard. Let the county board you. You can rest up a little and be fresh when you come out. We sympathize with you, having had a little experience of a suit for libel once to look after.

Pennsylvania is the only State in the Union where real estate is not taxed for state purposes This repeal was recommended by Auditor General Hartranft and passed by a Republican Legislature.—Republican.

The main mistakes we see in the above are that real estate does pay a tax into the State Treasury, and that Hartranft did not recommend a repeal of any such tax.

COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
BLOOMSBURG, Dec. 9, 1875,

We hereby give notice that the collectors have been notified to make prompt collection and over at once, as the money is needed to meet proper ordinary demands on the treasury of county.

WILLIAM LAWTON,
JOHN BERNER,
JOAN ENT. } Commissioners.

TO TEACHERS AND FRIENDS OF EDUCATION.—The Annual Session of the Columbia County Teachers' Institute will be held at Orangeville, in the Academy, commencing Monday, Dec. 20, at 2 o'clock p. m. Every Teacher in the County is expected to be present. Boards of Directors will act wisely in allowing teachers the time to attend Institute. The Directors are respectfully invited to attend on Thursday.

W. H. SNYDER,
County Superintendent.

The money lost by Mrs. Hennessey at the Conyngham and Centralia Poor House, an account of which appeared in the COLUMBIAN last week, has been recovered. The boy stole the money on Sunday, and on Thursday following Mr. Hennessey received a dispatch from Clinton, Mass., signed by Rev. J. Patterson, stating that the boy had been caught and the money could be returned. The boy evidently made good use of his time, and spent some of his ill-gotten greenbacks for rail road fare. So sudden a capture seldom occurs.

Mr. James K. Ever met with a most distressing accident on Monday last, while assisting in the repair of a pump. He was supporting the piston by the rod when it slipped through his left hand, and the hook striking between the thumb and hand, tore out the flesh, and drew one of the cords of the arm down from the elbow. A bone of the hand was also broken. Dr. Turner was called in immediately, and dressed the wound, and though suffering much pain, Mr. Eyer is doing as well as could be expected at this writing.

The trial of Anna Given for disposing of her bastard child was called on Tuesday last. The GrandJury ignored the count in the indictment charging her with murder, and indicted her for concealing the death of the child. Col. Freeze and John M. Clark, District Attorney, appeared for the prosecution, and Robert F. Clark and E. R. Ikeler, Esqs., volunteered to defend the girl. The testimony elicited was much the same as given by us at the time of the occurrence, and is not of a fit character to bear repetition. The principal line of defense was the weak mind of the prisoner. After a short deliberation the jury came in with a verdict not guilty.

A most daring burglary was committed on Sunday evening last, at the residence of Mr. A. W. Fry, on Third street. The family went to church, and on their return discovered that the back kitchen door was unlocked, but thought little of it until Monday, when they missed two cans of lard, each containing about fifty pounds. Upon closer examination it was found that a window in the back part of the house had been opened, and a lot of apples had been taken with the lard. Some near neighbors saw a light in the house, but paid no attention to it, supposing that some members of Mr. Fry's family had remained at home. A singular part of the transaction is the fact that a lot of fresh meat in the cellar near the lard was untouched. No positive clue to the perpetrators of this contemptible theft have yet been discovered.

Such thefts have been quite frequent in the neighborhood. A few loads of shot properly distributed, might correct the evil.

THE THESPIANS.

NORMAL SCHOOL BENEFIT.

The Drama of William Tell was presented at the Opera House on Friday evening, by this Troupe. The people of Bloomsburg have grown to feel that her amateur performers are in many respects equal to, or even better than most traveling companies, and therefore it was but natural that the announcement of this performance was sufficient to fill the house to overflowing. Mr. E. Jacoby was the stage manager, and the success with which the play passed off, attests his efficiency in that capacity. There was not a hitch or baulk from beginning to end. Mr. Jacoby took the character of Tell and did it well. Hervey E. Smith, Esq., as Gesler, displayed considerable ability as an actor, appearing at his ease on the stage. Miss Buyrd as Emma, Master John Rutter as Albert, J. S. Phillips as Meletal, played their parts in a pleasing manner; in fact, all who appeared on the stage, evidenced careful preparation of their parts. The new scenery and costumes, obtained for this occasion, added much to the general effect, while the stage arrangements in the way of wind, thunder and lightning, were well carried out. There were two scenes that deserve especial mention; one where Gesler loses himself on the mountains, and has just given up in despair, when Albert comes picking his way from rock to rock, in rain and storm and lightning and rescues the heartless tyrant. The other, where Tell is overpowered by the minions of Gesler, and loaded down with chains. This scene ended with a fine tableau. The whole play abounded with touching parts. The after piece was a farce entitled "A Convenient Distance."

On Saturday evening the performance was repeated for the purpose of making up the expenses, so that all the proceeds of the first evening could be devoted to the Normal School. The after-piece was omitted, and in its stead a few varieties were introduced, all of which were well done for home talent. Master M. Owen gave a comic song and dance, in negro character, which was encored. This was followed by a negro lecture by G. W. Dreher, who was also recalled. Mr. M. Burns then entertained the audience with some very good clog dancing and he also had to come back.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of Mr. Elwell on Friday, and a previous engagement, by Mr. Wirt on Saturday, the part of the programme assigned to them was necessarily omitted. Those who got up this entertainment are entitled to much credit, and the people showed their appreciation of the efforts and object of the troupe, by a vote of thanks on Friday night. Mr. E. Jacoby was the leading spirit, and to him is accorded the greatest merit. Mr. E. W. Kester undertook the arduous duties of Business Agent, and no professional manager could have done better. The appreciation of the community was justly shown in the large audiences, and the interest of the town in the welfare of the Normal School can never hereafter be doubted.

OUR TOWN.—A gentleman sojourning in our town is evidently favorably impressed with it. We clip the following correspondence from the West Chester Daily News:

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29, 1875.

Bloomsburg, the county seat of Columbia county, has a population of over 4,000. It is beautifully situated on the north bank of the Susquehanna river on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, 147 miles from Philadelphia, and 52 from Williamsport. It contains a number of very handsome and well-built houses, and is fast growing to be a town of importance. As yet, no water works have been built, and it presents a fine opening for some outside capitalists to project them with certain success as to making a paying investment. From a point within two miles of the town, on Fishing Creek, water can be conducted to an elevation sufficiently high to give fall enough from the reservoir to force the water to the top of, and over the highest building. The original cost would be about $60,000, as per estimate and contract, and the thing would have been consummated, but for the clause in the new Constitution requiring a vote of the tax-payers. Should some speculative capitalist step in and supply this great need, it would pay a handsome per cent upon an investment.

There are on the outer limits of the town three iron furnaces, and in it are foundries, machine shops, lumber factories, car works, carriage factories, etc., etc., all of which give it quite a business-like appearance.

A State Normal School is located here, upon an elevation that overlooks the town. The main building was destroyed by fire in September last. A new structure is being erected, and will be ready for occupancy by April, 1876.

In visiting the different manufacturing establishments, I was particularly struck with the exceedingly handsome specimens of workmanship in the carriage factory of M. C. Sloan & Bro. The buggies and different styles of vehicles are indeed beautiful, and the sleighs, both single and double, are elegant specimens of beauty, both in symmetrical style and finish. The firm is widely celebrated for their good workmanship and handsome turnouts, and justly so, from the fact that they employ none but first-class workmen, and use nothing but first-class material. A double seated sleigh brought to my notice, is one of the neatest things of the kind I have ever seen, and evinces in all its appointments great taste and skilful workmanship. It was built for a gentleman in Danville, and I think he ought to be proud to possess it. Mr. M. C. Sloan, the senior partner and financier, is a fine specimen of our self made men.

The "Exchange" is the principal hotel, and is owned and kept by Mr. W. B. Koons, a very affable and genial man, fully up to the requirements of our progressive age, and well adapted to the business. With the assistance of his clerks, Messrs. A. E. Miller and F. B. Koons, a sojourn here is made very agreeable. We have feasted on deer and wild game, and nothing is wanting to satisfy the taste of the greatest epicure. I cannot o mit mentioning in this connection the gentlemanly caterer for the hotel, Mr. J. M. Barton.

The weather in this section has been miserable, and I see by reports in your LOCAL that you are enjoying the same. Yours, SKIPJACK.

There are thirty different makes of sewing machines now in the market, and each one is recommended by local or traveling agents as being far superior to all others. Many of them will work for a few months, but the only machine that has been tested, during the last twenty-five years, on a great variety of work by fifteen hundred thousand families, is the SINGER. These machines will run fifty years without getting out of order, and are found in daily use to be as represented, the most simple, perfect, and durable machine ever invented. They are now fast superseding all others, as shown by the fact that their sales are two thousand eight hundred more a week, than those of any other machines in the world, which can only be accounted for by the superior quality of metal, and excellent workmanship employed in their construction. There are hundreds of ladies who are willing to give certificates in favor of the Singer.

SHOT HIMSELF.

Murray Henry, aged 12 years, son of Mr. A. C. Henry, of this place, accidentally shot himself last Friday evening with a pistol which he was carrying in his pant's pocket at the time. After the shooting, in order to stop the flow of blood, he filled the wound with paper. The next morning, his mother noticing that he limped slightly when walking, inquired as to the cause. Murray replied that his pocket rubbed his leg and made it sore. When asked to show the place, and finding that he was no longer able to keep the matter a secret, he admitted that he had shot himself. Dr. Geo. Hill was immediately sent for who probed the wound, but owing to the swollen condition of the leg was unable to find the ball.

This is a lesson to Murray, as well as a warning to other boys who are in the habit of carrying pistols, that ought not soon to be forgotten.—Hughesville Enterprise.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Court met December 6th, 1875, at ten o'clock, a. m., His Honor, William Elwell on the Bench. E. B. Bidleman, John K. Girton, Samuel Appleman, N. B. Fowler and George Shoemaker were appointed tipstaves.

The Grand Jury being called and sworn, were charged by his Honor William Elwell at length on the crimes of Homicide and Infanticide, there being cases of that character to be laid before them. The following is the substance of the charge:

At the present session of the Court, in addition to the ordinary business, we are informed by the District Attorney, that there will be laid before you bills of indictment charging homicide against individuals therein named—charging the commission of the offense of murder; that there will be two such cases, and in one two counts, the first charging the crime of murder in the ordinary form of such indictment, and the second charging the offense of manslaughter. The grand jury, upon the examination of such a case, may find a true bill upon one count and ignore the other. For example, if they are not satisfied that the crime of murder has been committed, but that the case is one of manslaughter, they may ignore the count for murder and find the count for manslaughter a true bill.

There being two counts of this nature in the indictment, it becomes necessary for the Court to explain to the jurors the difference between the offense of murder and that of manslaughter.

Murder is the killing of a reasonable creature and being, in the peace of the Commonwealth, with malice aforethought expressed or implied. The essential ingredient in the crime of murder is the malice, and by this term is not merely meant spite and revenge, but the malice is implied wherever the act of one party towards another exhibits a cruel disposition—a heart regardless of its duty towards its fellowmen, and bent on mischief—any cruel and barbarous act by one person towards another which act eventuated in the death of one, may be considered to have originated in malice. The difference between the crimes of murder and manslaughter is this—that in the latter, malice does not exist, is not to be found. Thus, if in a quarrel, upon provocation, and in the heat of blood, while the passion is up, so that there is both provocation and passion, and on the moment, without deliberation, one slays the other, the crime may be reduced from murder to manslaughter.

The fact of malice existing is often inferred from the character of the weapon used. If a deadly weapon is used without provocation, in that case the crime is murder. The provocation must be such as to show that the party has no time for deliberation, has not deliberated. Furthermore, the wound must not bear too great disproportion to the provocation. If it does, the crime may be murder, as, if, for a trifling offense, one man should shoot another down, although there might be some provocation, it would not be enough to reduce the offense to manslaughter. In this state, the crime of murder is divided into degrees—murder of the first and murder of the second degree. Murder of the first degree is a capital offense and the only one punishable with death in this State. Murder of the second degree is where there is an absence of specific intent to take life. But the grand jury have nothing whatever to do with the question of degrees of murder.

If the grand jury find the case to be an act of killing with malice, and without such provocation and passion as reduce it to manslaughter, then they find a true bill for murder, and the traverse jury, under the direction of the Court, more fully given ascertains the degree, so that I need not trouble the grand jury with any nice distinctions between murder in the first and in the second degree. Where there is a charge of both murder and manslaughter, I deem it my duty to explain to you the difference between the two, and that, in order to reduce an unlawful killing from murder to manslaughter, there must be an absence of malice—the killing must have been done with sufficient provocation, when passion was excited and the killing was in the heat of blood.

In another case which will come before you, containing two counts, there is a charge against a mother for killing her bastard chid—charging the crime of murder. The same principles apply in such a case as apply in every other case of felonious killing.

There is in that indictment also a second count, charging the concealment or endeavoring to conceal the death of a child, which, if born alive, would be a bastard, so that it could not be known whether the child was born alive or not. The law does not make it a penal offense to conceal the birth. The offense is the concealing the death of a child, which, if born alive, would be a bastard; and in order to find that to be the case, the evidence must be such as to satisfy the jury that the child was born alive—that it was born into the world alive and with an independent circulation from that of the mother.

It is of course one of those painful matters which the Court and jury are sometimes obliged to investigate, but we have to discharge our duty under the obligation of the oath which we have taken.

Take gentlemen, that oath which has been administered to you as your guide, and in its spirit, discharge the duties which the law requires at your hands.

THROAT CUT BY ACCIDENT.

On Monday morning of last week a painful accident happened to Hiram Diehl, while engaged in butchering at the residence of Mr. James Reiland, in Limestone, Upper Augusta township, a few miles below Sunbury. While engaged in cleaning a hog which was lying on a platform, his foot slipped on a board. In falling the elbow of his right arm hit the edge of the platform, and the knife he held in his hand entered the neck below the right jaw, and by the force of the fall was driven in an upward direction nearly the length of the blade. The wound was a fearful one. The juglar vein was not cut, but an important artery was severed. Those who were present did all they could to stop the bleeding by holding the wound shut, until the aid of the doctor could be obtained. Dr. Martin, of Sunbury, was sent for, who dressed the wound, but at last accounts the unfortunate man was lying in an unconscious condition, with but little hope of his recovery. It is supposed that the knife either entered the brain or injured the spinal cord. Mr. Diehl is about 45 years of age, and had a wife and six children. We have since learned that Mr. D. died on Tuesday afternoon.—Sunbury Gazette.

THE WAY OHIO DISPOSES OF HER TRAMPS.—Ohio passed a vagrant act at the last session of her Legislature which the legislators of our State would do well to take a hint from. The following section shows how she proposes to dispose of her tramps: That if any male person, physically able to perform manual labor, and to whom labor at reasonable prices has been offered and refused, or who has not made reasonable efforts to procure employment, shall be found in a state of vagrancy, or practising common begging, he shall, on convictio thereof, be fined in any sum not exceedin fifty dollars, and be sentenced to hard labor in the jail of the county, for which labor they shall receive credit at the rate of seventy-five cents per day, until said fine and costs of prosecution and accruing costs shall be paid."

HELP TO MOTHERS NURSING INFANTS.—It is a conceded fact that mothers who have the care, anxiety and draught of nursing infants are weak and need the aid of some stregthening tonic to make up the nourishment required for the growth of the child. Ale, porter, and lager beer have often been recommended. Of late, since physicians have become aware that Port Grape Wine produced by Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., is strictly pure they have prescribed it instead of ale and porter. This wine is principally sough for by mothers who have nursing infants as the best supply medium to be found. The wine is rich in body and not intoxicating but gently stimulating. Druggists generally keep it, and sell it for a dollar a bottle.—Enquirer.

from anywhere in this County to the City of Philadelphia, and have a day of sight-seeing besides. Wanamaker & Brown stand by this Statement, and so will you after one trial.

Character of the Goods we sell! For Men & Boys.

TO be sure of what we sell we manufacture our goods, some of them in our own building. They are well cut, sewed and finished. They can be relied upon. Storekeepers out of the city misrepresent us when they say they sell our goods; as we do not wholesale, but confine ourselves to retail. We bear no ill-will to any one, and state this only because some dealers sell poor goods as coming from our house. To each of our customers we are responsible for articles bought of us. By our plan of Ticketing the right names of the materials on our goods, no one can be misled as to qualities.

How Wanamaker & Brown treat their CUSTOMERS.

THE price in plain figures and nothing off. The same price to acquaintances and strangers. To city people and country people equal advantages. With each article sold, a Guarantee is given, that the Price is as low as it can be bought anywhere, and that the quality is as represented; also, that the money will be paid back in full, if purchaser within 10 days wishes, for any reason, to return the goods, unworn.

Exactly where the Store is.

THIS is important indeed, because unprincipled people having stores in Philadelphia, cover-lapping our signs, cards, advertisements, and stop strangers on the street, with false directions about where the store is, so that they may sell their counterfeit goods. There is but one Oak Hall in Philadelphia, it is a large building, the size of four ordinary stores, and is on the South-east corner of SIXTH—SIXTH—SIXTH—SIXTH—SIXTH and Market Streets.

Those who cannot come to the City.

WE send patterns of material and prices by mail when requested. Persons can have made-up goods sent by Express, by sending their measure; we furnish easy directions that any one can measure by, and describing color wanted, and price desired. Payment can be made to the Express Co. on receipt of goods, and the privilege of examining them is allowed before paying. Where goods do not please, we will return the money and pay the expressage back to Philadelphia.

You should be sure to see our name in the building and over the door as you enter.

THE OLD MAN AT THE FAIR.

I am very dusty and tired, wife! I've just come home from the fair:
So give me my pipe and tobacco, and I'll smoke
my easy chair;
'Tis a tiresome work a playin' for feeble old men like me;
'Tis a tiresome work a seein' where every one wishes
to see.

Our fairs are a runnin' down, wife; they are not like the fairs of old,
Where you took the prizes for bread, and for butter
as yellow as gold;
There were hundreds of useful things, that were well worth seein' then,
Now, dozens of racin' horses, and hundreds of bettin men!

What all this sportin' will come to is more than I now can tell;
But, somehow, it seems to me like the downward road to h—well,
I may be a little harsh, but I'm speaking the simple truth,
For bettin', racin' and drinkin' are the foes of our noble youth.

We shall soon be a nation of gamblers, if matters
keep on this way;
Why, what do you think—a youngster accused me of bettin' today;—!
When I held my hand on his head—that hasn't seen ten years yet—
And called him a fine little fellow—he answered me back, "You bet!"

"Pat, you little imp," said I, "can you say I never have done;
Come stand by your grandpa's knee! Let me reason with you, my son!"
He straightened himself in his clothes, and said with a look so queer,
"I didn't mean here for 'present company' old man, walk off on your ear!"

We never heard talk like that when you and I were young;
My father and mother—God bless 'em—put a bridle upon my tongue.
I'm old and gettin' blind, I know, but a difference I can perceive
'Twixt the boys of eighteen hundred and eighteen seventy-five.

How is it about the girls? They, too, from the path have strayed;
I didn't see one a showin' the butter her hands had made;
They stood in their pony phaeton, with a woman'
ease and grace;
And shouted as loud as any when a favorite won a race!

All eyes were watching the track; the race was every man's theme;
And I said to myself, "is this a fair, or is it only a dream?"
I saw 'bout a dozen boys lookin' round at the sheep and swine,
And the frosts of seventy winters hadn't silvered their heads like mine.

Why on earth don't they change the name when the wrong name it has got?
No longer call it fair but an agricultural trot;
Then men will not be talkin' things for sensible folks
to see,
With nobody there to see 'em but crippled old folks like me.

There, take my pipe and tobacco! I'll sleep in my easy chair:
'Tis tiresome work a talkin' about a degenerate fair;
You needn't disturb my rest, wife till the bells of the evening chime,
For I may go back in my dreams to the fairs of olden time.

A Greenhorn Driving Oxen.

Of course we can drive the oxen home, we told the farmer. The idea of doubting our ability, when we have seen them handled, every day, for the past month! He handed over the log whip and started them, we taking the proper position in front. It was easy enough, though rather monotonous, till we met a team coming the other way; then we "geed" those oxen into a ditch, and running against a tree, came to a stand-still. We received a pleasant smile from the teamster, as we had given him the whole road. But there we were. We hollered "gee," "haw," and "back" till our throat felt rough. We couldn't get ahead unless we borrowed an ax and cut the tree down, and when we tried to back them, they spread out from the pole and stood face to face, nearly choking themselves. Then our patience gave out; we kicked the near one in the ribs; he playfully retorted by switching us across the face with his fly dispenser. We lit a pipe and puffed smoke into their nostrils. This was a happy thought; they sneezed over us and backed, but forgot to stop till they got a stone wall between them. We went home to borrow a steam derrick, and before the arrangements were made the oxen came in view and calmly stopped in front of the barn. You may think there is nothing human in an ox, but we are ready to swear that both winked when they saw us, and one had a positive grin on his face. We refrain from expressing our opinion of oxen.—New York Mail.

HOLLOW HORN.—If the horns of the animals are cold in the morning, you may expect that they have the horn ail. If the eyes look dull and heavy, and matter gathers in the eyes, and the nose is dry and does not sweat, it is another evidence of horn ail. If the hair is dry and stands out straight, and the droppings are dry and hard, it is a third indication. Take a common teacup half full of good strong vinegar, put in a tablespoonful each of fine salt and black pepper, ground fine, and let it soak. In the morning put a tablespoonful in each ear of the animal affected; the next morning repeat the dose. If the case is not a bad one, two applications will generally effect a cure. As soon as the natural warmth returns to the horns, then the cure is effected. I would recommend not to bore the horns or cut them off until the above remedy has been tried. In applying the medicine, it will be necessary for one person to hold the head and another to apply the medicine. Be sure to hold the ear up, so that the liquor will not run into the head. I have not known a creature to die with the horn ail that has been treated with this, for forty years.—Exchange.

TO SELECT MEAT.—It is always important to know how to choose meat in buying. Ox beef should be of fine grain or fiber, the flesh of a bright red color and firm; the fat white and distributed throughout the lean; it should not be yellow or semi-fluid. If the meat is moist and flabby it is stale.—Mutton should be of a clear pink tint; firm and with a liberal supply of fat. Fine wether mutton may be recognized by the presence of a small mass of fat on the upper part of the leg. It is more nutritious than ordinary mutton, and the darker its tint the finer its flavor. Pork should be of a pale pink tint, and the fat very firm. If it is soft or if the fat is yellow the meat is bad. If it is semi-fluid the animal has probably been fed on flesh.

Experiments in Germany on frozen potatoes prove that the freezing in nowise alters the chemical composition of the tubers. The change is simply physical, and if they are frozen hard they are still fit for distillation, or they may be pressed to get rid of the water, and ground into a very good meal, adapted for feeding cattle.

Hogs love sulphur, and a considerable amount of it is necessary to keep them in fair health. When hogs run at large and find green food they supply themselves with what is needed but pigs kept in close pens and fed on house slops or corn, need some more laxative food.

Save the corn cobs for kindling, especially if wood is not going to be plentiful next winter. To prepare them, melt together 60 parts resin and 40 parts tar. Dip in the cobs, and dry on sheet metal heated to about the temperature of boiling water.

Humorous.

"Father," said a young hopeful to his rather unstable parent, "I wish you'd either quit swearing or family prayer,—They don't jibe well together."

"The prisoner at the bar seems to have a very smooth face," said a spectator to the jailor. "Yes," replied the jailor; "he was ironed just before he was brought in."

"What is that dog barking at," asked a fop, whose boots were more polished than his ideas. "Why," said a bystander, "he sees another puppy in your boots."

A retired schoolmaster excuses his passion for angling by saying that, from constant habit he never feels quite himself unless he's handling the rod.

A popular writer, speaking of the ocean telegraph, wonders whether the news transmitted through the salt water will be fresh.

Why are ideas received while fox-hunting like handbills?—Because they are impressions taken in the chase.

"John Henry" said his wife with stony severity, "I saw you coming out of a saloon this afternoon." "Well, madam," replied the obdurate John, "you wouldn't have me stay in there, would you?"

A little boy carrying some eggs home from the shop, dropped them. "Did you break any?" asked his mother, when he told her of it. "No," said the little fellow; "but the shells came off some of 'em."

Little Willie, having hunted in all the corners for his shoes, at last appears to give them up, and climbing on a chair, betakes himself to a big book on a side table. Mother says to him:—"What is darling doing with the book?" "It ith the dictionary; papa lookth in the dictionary for things, and I'm looking in it to see if I can find my shoes."

A drag driven by an elegantly attired lady, and with a trim and neatly dressed colored boy perched on the footman's seat behind, was passing through the streets, when it was espied by an old negro woman. "Bress de Lord," she exclaimed, raising her hands as she spoke. "Bress de Lord, I never 'spected to see dat. Wonder what dat cullud young gemman pays dat young white 'oman fur drivin' dat kerridge? I know'd it'd come, but never 'spected to lib to see it. Dis nigga's ready to go 'way now."

The little daughter of a clergyman in a parish not far from New Haven, after having had charge of the baby all day while the folks were renovating the house, asked at night if she might pray for what she wished. The request being granted, she said her usual prayer, supplementing it with—"And please, Lord, don't let us have any more house-cleaning."

A husband and wife took their infant son to the Rev. John Henry Jones for baptism. "What name?" asked the clergyman, as they were arranged before the congregation. "George Washington Podgers," whispered the father. "No; Isaac Newton Podgers," spoke out the wife. "Tut, tut," interrupted the preacher, "my name is a good one; take that John Henry Podgers, I baptise thee in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen." The couple went away smiling, and the husband afterward said that the preacher had saved him from the biggest kind of a row.

Our Dan remarked to his wife last evening as he left home for the office: "I'll be back by ten o'clock if I don't meet with any serious pull-back." "It won't be well for you to meet any pull-backs, Daniel, serious or smiling, if I know of it," said his better half, in toges which indicated that she meant it.

When Sally's arms her dog imprison, I always wish my neck was his'n; how often would I stop and turn to get a pat from a hand like her'n; and when she kisses Towser's nose, O! don't I wish that I were those.

FALSE ANALOGY.—Curious answers often come out in examination for the Civil Service. The word "inheritance" occurring in a page of reading, the examiner interrogated the youngster;—"What is inheritance?" "Patrimony." "What is patrimony?" "Something left by a father." "What would you call it if left by a mother?" "Matrimony."

A VALUABLE PARROT.—A groceryman in South Baltimore, who has recently experienced much trouble on account of his wife's material love of the "ardent," has finally succeeded in finding a preventive. The heartless groceryman bought a parrot and trained it, at a neighbor's house, to scream, "Louisa, do take water!" The bird is now placed in possession of the store, and every time that Louisa goes behind the counter the "green monster" yells out, "Louisa, do take water!" The persecuted woman vows that she will take the "insect" out some night, while her husband is at the lodge, and sell it cheap, or give it away to some one who is suffering for a parrot.—Baltimore News.

A MILITARY JOKE.—A lieutenant whom Col. Serrell ordered into the marsh where Gen. Gilmore was going to plant the "swamp angel" whose messages flew so unpleasantly into Charleston, said that he "couldn't do it—the mud was too deep." Col. Serrell ordered him to try. He did so, and the lieutenant returned with his men covered with mud, and said:

"Colonel, the mud is over my men's heads; I can't do it."

The Colonel insisted, and told the lieutenant to make a requisition for anything that was necessary for the safe passage of the swamp. The lieutenant made his requisition in writing, and on the spot. It was as follows: "I want twenty men, eighteen feet long to cross a swamp fifteen feet deep."

HARD ON EDITORS.—Soon after Chief Justice Chase assumed the gubernatorial chair in Ohio, he issued his proclamation appointing a Thanksgiving Day. To make sure of being orthodox, the Governor composed his proclamation almost entirely of passages from the Bible, which he did not designate as quotations, presuming that every one would recognize them, and admire the fitness of the words as well as his taste in their selection. The proclamation meeting the eye of a Democratic editor, he pounced at once upon it, and declared that he had read it before—couldn't exactly say where—but he would take his oath that it was a downright plagiarism from beginning to end. That would have been a pretty good fair joke; but the next day the Republican editor came out valiantly in defence of the Governor, pronounced the charge libelous, and challenged any man living to produce one single line of the production that had appeared in print before.

VEGETINE

WILL CURE

SCROFULA,

Scrofulous Humor.

Vegetine will eradicate from the system every taint of scrofula and scrofulous humor. It has permanently cured thousands in Boston and vicinity who had been long and painful sufferers.

Cancer, Cancerous Humor.

The marvellous effect of Vegetine in case of Cancer and cancerous humor challenges the most profound attention of the medical faculty, many of whom are prescribing Vegetine to their patients.

Canker.

Vegetine has never failed to cure the most inflexible case of Canker.

Mercurial Diseases.

The Vegetine meets with wonderful success in the cure of this class of Diseases.

Pain in the Bones.

In this complaint the Vegetine is the great remedy, as it removes from the system the producing cause.

Salt Rheum.

Tetter, salt rheum, scald head, etc., will certainly yield to the great alterative effects of Vegetine.

Erysipelas.

Vegetine has never failed to cure the most inveterate case of Erysipelas.

Pimples and Humors of the Face

Reason should teach us that a blotchy, rough or pimpled skin depends entirely upon an impure condition; and no outward applications can ever cure the defect. Vegetine is a great blood purifier.

Tumors, Ulcers or old Sores are caused by an impure state of the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly with Vegetine, and these complaints will disappear.

Catarrh.

For this complaint the only substantial benefit can be obtained through the blood. Vegetine is the great blood purifier.

Constipation.

Vegetine does not act as a cathartic to debilitate the bowels, but cleanses all the organs, enabling each to perform the functions devolving upon it.

Piles.

Vegetine has restored thousands to health who have been long and painful sufferers.

Dyspepsia.

If Vegetine is taken regularly, according to directions, a certain and speedy cure will follow its use.

Faintness at the Stomach.

Vegetine is not a stimulating bitters which creates a factitious appetite, but a gentle tonic, which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

Female Weakness

Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs and allays inflammation.

General Debility

In this complaint the good effects of the Vegetine are realized immediately after commencing to take it; as debility denotes deficiency of the blood, and Vegetine acts directly upon the blood.

Vegetine is Sold by All Druggists.

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.
